She knows that if she ever breaks free that she will never see the light of day she's been blinded by the stars and dreams she craved
and if they ever let her go She still still be bound to all her fears and all the medicine they forced her to take

On and on and on she goes
on and on and on she goes but she will never ever ever find love unless she takes on a fight along with the northern light

They found her in the basement facing east howling wolves and inhaling beast Were strangling every little dream she had in there and if she ever finds her way they will haunt her through the day until she breaks and then becomes one of them, cause

On and onâ€¦â€¦

Yeah..

On and onâ€¦â€¦

She knows that if she ever let go she will only loose her soul there's no way out of this hell. Yeah
