I still think about you, as I read through all your texts
The naughty things you would say around the time we first met
Yeah you said that we'd defiantly go all the way

I should have given you more; I should have begged you to stay
Another broken heart, another hopeless cliché.
With a kiss and a twist of the knife you were gone, you were gone.

Now I can't do anything else but leave with a smile.
And hope that somebody else will come find me in a while.
Somebody new, Just just just like you
Somebody new, Just just just like you

Do you still think about me, or is it all about you,
Each time I picture your face, I can't help seeing me
with you
Do you know what I'd give just to change your mind, change your mind?

Now I can't do anything else but leave with a smile.
And hope that somebody else will come find me in a while.
Somebody new Just just just like you
Somebody new Just just just like you

She'll do the things that you do (Things that you do) She'll need me like you used to (She'll need me like you used to)
And I'll just pretend that she's you (That she's you, That she's you, That she's you, That she's you)

So while your falling in love, I'll be falling apart
I'm calling your name as I crawl back to the start
Still wondering why. why why why why why why why

Did I give everything up?
Did I give everything up?

You don't just fall out of love.
You wait till you find someone else.

Somebody new Just just just like you
Somebody new Just just just like you Somebody new

I'll wait till I find someone else.
Somebody new Just like you
