"Perspective"

Day by day we have our little problems
Don't think about it

There's no time to look behind
It could be so easy

Take a step aside to see the difference
If you really dare to
The problem that you have's a different kind

Knowing where to go is not so easy
But you have to focus

Taking time to look is sometimes hard
You just have to want to

Looking for the reason why you stay here
It's a change of perspective
Seems like playing with a deck of cards

Misunderstanding - starts shouting
Love and devotion - for sad things
Fear and confusion - is religion
World domination - for nothing

Communication - is ending
All in one nation - an illusion
Negotiation - is worthless
Contamination - in process
