The sad news came today
That you gave up
You quit
You're walking away
And you can't find the right words to say
That you are part of a ship that's sinking

We'll hang ourselves up with our broken dreams
Convince ourselves that we are no better than this
Our commitment's a sickness
We'll hang ourselves up with our broken dreams
And tell ourselves that we almost made it
Out commitment's a sickness

And they say that this, too, shall pass
But we're getting older with no closure or direction

We'll hang ourselves up with our broken dreams
Convince ourselves that we are no better than this
Our commitment's a sickness
We'll hang ourselves up with our broken dreams
And tell ourselves that we almost made it
Out commitment's a sickness

We'll hang ourselves with our dreams
We'll hang ourselves with doubt
We'll have ourselves with our dreams
We're always hanging on
