I'm caught in the middle now
When I should have gone around
You'd have thought I could read the signs
Or put up some kind of fight
Now I can't go left or right
No I can't go left or right

I'm trapped in a shrinking room
Is it curtains for me soon?
When the door's locked I know you said;
Take the window out instead
But I struggle even then
Yeah I struggle even then

But I know it's never too late at all.
Too late at all
Even when it gets too close to call,
It's never too late at all

I'm stuck in a leaking boat
With this message that I wrote
Throw a bottle in the sea
Maybe you'll come back to me
And this won't stay just a dream
No it won't stay just a dream...

But I know it's never too late at tall,
Too late at all
Even when it gets too close to call,
It's never too late at all

So help me, the water's rising
And I'm desperate to breathe

I thought I could hear you now
Maybe I should have hung around
But my head got the best of me
Still I never could believe

It's too late at all.
Too late at all

Even when it gets too close to call,
It's not too late at all
