Her ghost hides in my mind in the night
In a way she's haunting me
I'm wanting her still

Through rose colored skies
Or blue, blue moonlight, and miracles
I'm high as she's walking by

And when I look at you I've got a second chance
Really need to have you now
One by one they fall, it always breaks me down

The quiet cuts me through
The candle burns, the knife is turned
The pain will arrive, I know, deep inside

And when I look at you I've got a second chance
Really need to take it now
One by one they fall, it always breaks me down

One by one they fall, it always breaks me down
One by one, it always breaks me down

Her ghost hides in my eyes, in the night
In a way she's haunting me
I'm wanting her still

Through rose colored skies
Or blue, blue moonlight, there's miracles
I'm high as she's walking by

And when I look at you I've got a second chance
Really need to have you now
One by one they fall, it always breaks me down

One by one they fall, it always breaks me down
One by one they fall, it always breaks me down
