

Neal Century

"5 In The Morning"

Visit "5 In The Morning" on MotoLyrics.com

5 in the morning with no place to go
An empty shadow's what I call home
The Sun is there about to rise
My colors fade it makes me cry

What you really need is the people that you meet
What you really want is what you cannot have
Was it really love fading in the sky
I could wait all night till the new moon rises

I've been running up and down
Now I'm the clown of the town
The sun rises and the moon falls
Yesterday like a life ago

What you really need is the people that you meet
What you really want is what you cannot have
Well I really need one look around
Cuz every place is a familiar town

But life goes on and on...

Visit Neal Century page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.