There is none like You There is none like You to me There is none like You There is none like You to me And no one else will be

Everyday I always fail You are still here You are still here

Everytime I always fall You are still here You are still here

Bridge

Fix my broken life and make it new oh oh All I need is You (oh Jesus) Change my heart and make it just like You oh oh I want to be with You (oh Lord)
