Sometimes the world seems ugly
but in the darkness
there is beauty
and it overwhelms the senses
seeps right through you
it's yours entirely
There is no pain inside you now

Lying alone in the darkness
with dreams unspoken
I cannot breathe now
I lay here broken
what is this I see
at my window
it comes to take me
it comes to free me

resting in the shadows no regrets but the things I should have done can I find the light beyond this madness where I'm coming from

Lying alone in the darkness
with dreams unspoken
I cannot breathe now
what is this I see
at my window
it comes to take me
it comes to free me

I've been on the run nearly all my life did I sin if I knew not what I did now I seek redemption avoiding temptation
no one held my hand to see me through

with dreams unspoken
I cannot breathe now

what is this I see
at my window
it comes to take me
it comes to free me

I put myself in a corner all alone there was no one to catch me if I fell could you forgive me what I did now that I can see beyond it all?
Sometimes the world seems ugly
(Set me free....)

at my window
it comes to free me
