

Blake Jarrell

"Say What You Will"

Visit "Say What You Will" on MotoLyrics.com

I can't say that it doesn't hurt
To hear the words of war coming from you first
And a big deal I will not make
Cause some bridges are better left unburned

But say what you will, say what you won't
You'll probably do it then you'll say that you don't
I've got love for you anyways, love for you anyways
And say what you will, say what you won't
You'll probably do it then you'll say that you don't
I've got love for you anyways, love for you anyways

And I can't say that I didn't think,
"What could I have done to make ends meet"?
But not even so much as your guilt
Could in your eyes absorb just how I felt

But say what you will, say what you won't
You'll probably do it then you'll say that you don't
I've got love for you anyways, love for you anyways
And say what you will, say what you won't
You'll probably do it then you'll say that you don't
I've got love for you anyways, love for you anyways

And taking clever shots at the only one you got
Is something that I'll never get
I'd beg for you, I'd hurt for you
I'd do it all over for you
There's no need to ask
I guess that's what I get

But say what you will, say what you won't
You'll probably do it then you'll say that you don't
I've got love for you anyways, love for you anyways
And say what you will, say what you won't
You'll probably do it then you'll say that you don't
I've got love for you anyways, love for you anyways

Visit Blake Jarrell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
