we fall asleep on the runway underneath the noon
crucifix.
where they left the light on for us tonight.
fed myself to the sickness and purge myself of the cure.
we watch the nurses pace the cage.

you and i we're never gonna die.
never gonna die in the white lights.
you and i are never gonna die.

servants. suffocate the king.
we've come to take what we don't need.
and built a prison where cathedrals used to be.

we burn every office.
zombies prowl through the school chanting "this is ours to love and take apart at will".

these wires, these woven webs, conceal blueprints
from me.
here we are right now.
sometimes we kill the lights.
pretend that we survived.

we're never gonna die.
we're never gonna die.
we're never gonna die.
we're never gonna die.
