It all unfolds as we begin to understand life.
But can it be? Something separates us.
We'll find a way, we'll understand it.
We'll be molded lives in visions of a perfect mind.
Our void will be lost.
These gaps will fill with the answers.
This missing perception, I can't explain how much, how much this void will separate, how much it will go.
Face to face we stand in silence with questions that ask; What is our purpose?
Why is life so empty?
These gaps are left and the answers of our mind cannot fill the void of this missing perception.
Our void will fill.
