

Bleeding Martyr

"Wake Up Call"

Visit "Wake Up Call" on MotoLyrics.com

All I live for is everything inside of me.
All I ever wanted and needed, was an inspiration that was never there.
These hopes are gone.
You're searching for an answer, though it's never there.
I'll change the world.
Do you hear those sirens?
I'll change the world.
Do you hear those sirens?
It's a wake up call, come save us all.
I'll change the world.
Take all of man's desires, throw them into the fire.
I'll change the world.
Do you hear those sirens?
It's a wake up call, come save us all.
Everything that stands in your way is a false interpretation.
These things that hide from me and you have been pushed away.
Now it's left for me and you to find our way.
But it's clear to see that this misery has left from me.
I'll change the world.
Do you hear those sirens?
I'll change the world.
Do you hear those sirens?
It's a wake up call, come save us all.
I'll change the world.
Take all of man's desires, throw them into the fire.
I'll change the world.
Do you hear those sirens?
It's a wake up call, come save us all.
It's a wake up call, come save us all.
Do you hear those man's desires?
It's a wake up call, come save us all.
Do you hear those man's desires?

Visit Bleeding Martyr page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

