Take these broken wings and make them flutter again I believe your the only one
The reason I carry on

I clipped your wings
I watched you fall right out of the sky and I didnt even bother to save you now even when you needed me too

Please tell me
This will work out
I admit I have my doubts

And I run to you like i always have and will do
I know when the clock hits
the final hour, I know its over

Its over, its over

Call me a liar
But didnt you say
That you couldnt forget Oh i know i pushed you to the limits
And girl i'm paying for it
Please tell me
This will work out
I admit I have my doubts

And I run to you
like i always have and will do
I know when the clock hits

Its over, its over

Oh yeah yeah!

With your heart on my sleeve

You were always meant for me
You were always meant for me

And I run to you
like i always have and will do

Its over, its over
