A Fool For You Nomore... Composed and written by Tony Power
Artist... Niamh Kavanagh
So long again
You've gone again
You're walking down that same old road again
And someone new is telling you
The same old words you've heard before
Then you come back to me just like you always do
And tell me that you're feeling blue
But I won't be a fool for you no more
Yet I'll still go on loving you
Although the gap between us is so wide
And I'll still go on missing you
Each time I see you walking through that door

You're still the same
You'll never change
You need a shoulder to lean on again.
But you won't find your peace of mind
You're just as restless as before
And you'll come running back just like you always do
And tell me that you love me too
But I won't be a fool for you no more

Yet I'll still go on loving you
Although the gap between us is so wide
And I'll still go on missing you
Each time I see you walking through that door.

Now someone new
Means more to you,
Than I have ever done before
Yet you'll come running back just like you always do
And tell me that you love me too
But I won't be a fool for you no more
No I won't be a fool for you no more repeat
