The leaves of laughter fluttering around my head
Insane desire fills the pillow on my bed
Each time I think of all the happiness you've brought I'll remember you in the birthday of my thoughts

The silver eagle of your love declared its place
Its flight of splendor I still carry on my face
I've known the emerald of the peace that I once sought
I'll remember you in the birthday of my thoughts

See my love, candles of love ever burning
See my love, candles of love ever burning, burning,
burning

The daylight and the darkness finds me wishing you were here
Your presence's faded but I will not shed a tear Don't ever feel that it was foolishly bought
I'll remember you in the birthday of my thoughts

See my love, candles of love ever burning
See my love, candles of love ever burning, burning,
burning
See my love, see my love
