In the sea of consciousness
I knew you, knew you, knew you
In the sea of consciousness
You loved me, loved me, loved me

But this world is a dark world
With a black sun, can I run to you?
And ah, just the thought of you makes me wander back
To the innocence you gave me, so long ago
Am I too late to go?

In the sea of consciousness
You called me, called me, called me
In the sea of consciousness
I answered, answered, answered

But this world is a dark world
With a black sun, can I run to you?
And your perfection's perfectness have the mercy in
Which we all came to know you, so long ago
Am I too late to go?

Sea of Consciousness, am I too late to go?
