and i thank my lucky stars everyday for indoor plumbing cause i know nobody knows where i'd have ended up without it caught a bit of my fur in your teeth, and you ate me as i went sliding down your throat they heard my cry resound:
i will always be around i thought that i would always be around

but inside your digestive trip what was there for me to grip? i wanted nothing more than just to stay there the truth is i was just too dumb to stop myself from holding on i believed in love

the truth is i was just so dumb i mistook your refuse for love clinging in the bowels as the shits poured on i might've stayed on but the gravity released me and out, out i dropped and now here i lay steaming babay
