Go!

People living in borders
To keep people out
Even if they have the same blood
Running inside them

It's pathetic
It's disgusting
Why can't we get past barriers

From the beginning of time it's been an instinct
To create shelter and call land our own
But when it takes on a wide scale
It's disturbing how we feel we become better than those around us

When did we find time
To make phantom lines
So we can put further space between us

It's pathetic
It's disgusting
Why can't we get past barriers

From the beginning of time it's been an instinct
To create shelter and call land our own
But when it takes on a wide scale
It's disturbing how we feel we become better than those around

It's pathetic
It's disgusting
Why can't we get past barriers
