Don't be a sour patch girl
Don't be the tie that binds
I only need your spark on my candle fire
Wont sleep in the dark tonight
Wake up to arms and bones
Wake up to go back home
To my leaky roof
Cluttered tables and faulty mattress
Knowing you'll be sleeping here tonight

I'm not here to make your baggage light
I know I'm just here to move the load to the side
I'm just fine I'll get by
Knowing that we're both going crazy

Armor to save my grace
A harbor to save my face from watching you
With stupid eyes and my hands still reaching towards you
It's like grabbing fire

I'm not here to make your baggage light
I know I'm just here to move the load to the side
I'm just fine I'll get by
Knowing that we're both going crazy

Don't be a sour patch girl
Don't be afraid to join my world
We never know
If we match fate or embrace flight
All I know is I need you here tonight
