You said just look on the bright side,
But the bright side looks black and white
Just one more time,
Can we scale this fence and scream at the city lights?
If we 're playing for keeps
You already beat me

Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If I'm going down then you're going down
Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If you're going down then I'll go down with you

And there's red wine by poolside,
We'll toast to the bitter end
And make the best of our lives
They've got a name for you where I come from
You keep making a mess and turning heads
And the worst part is you know it

Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If I'm going down then you're going down
Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If you're going down then I'll go down with you

The haunting, the kind that I never saw coming
Are you haunting me?
You're the ghost that's digging my grave
I've got a gut feeling
Can anybody hear me?
Got a gut feeling that you will be the of me
If I go down then you're going down baby
It's not what you said,
It's just the way you said it
It's not what you said,

But I can't forget this

Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If I'm going down then you're going down
Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If you're going down then I'll go down
Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If I'm going down then you're going down
Now I've come undone
Just so you could stitch me up
This damage seems to suit you,
If you're going down then I'll go down with you
