Another crossroad I have come upon today I choose my own path I choose my own path You call me ignorant I slam in your disdain I was your lab rat, but I wont take that

Hold your breath and close your eyes as you walk down the line
Innocence will pull us through and I will be just fine

Make up your mind
decide to walk again
we get to live again
we live again

Those cryptic messages that come from long ago are inconsistent there inconsistent I guess all that we are and everything we know you will not get it you just don't get it

Hold your breath and close your eyes as you walk down
the line
Innocence will pull us through
and I will be just fine

Make up your mind
decide to walk again
we get to live again
we live again through tomorrow

Hold your breath and close your eyes as you walk down
the line
Innocence will pull us through
and I will be just fine

Make up your mind
decide to walk again
we get to live again
we live again through tomorrow we get to walk again
