I can run like a river, I can fly like the wind
I can do anything... I can do anything...
I can move any mountain.
Take these stars and make them sing
I can do anything... I can do anything...

I believe I can win the world
But what I feel don't apply to her

She is indifferent to me
I can have everything and all
But what good would that be
If nothing makes her fall, fall

I can build me a castle from a single grain of sand
Baby you know I can, baby you know I can
I can have fame and fortune, all the joy it can bring
But that wouldn't change a thing, just want her to take me in

She said I'll get nowhere
With her, she don't care

She is indifferent to me
I can have everything and all
But what good would that be
If nothing makes her fall

She is indifferent to me
She ain't listening to me
So high above me
And nothing makes her fall, fall

She is indifferent to me
She ain't listening to me
She is indifferent to me
She ain't listening to me
