Hey kids why'd you buy this?
It could start a party at any given minute
Are you ready for kegs on kitchen floors
Screaming lungs out and dancing till we fall down

Where were you last friday night
We were drinking and staying up all night
Letting minds soar through the windows
It is the weekend and we are feeling alright
(alright, alright, alright, alright)

Hey kids, are you still listening?
This is trouble sold in a cellophane package
Are you ready for no future
Bags under eyes and parties till the sunrise

Where were you last friday night
We were drinking and staying up all night
Letting minds soar through the windows
It is the weekend and we are feeling alright

We live for weekends, oh baby

Where were you last friday night
We were drinking and staying up all night
Letting minds soar through the windows
It is the weekend and we are feeling alright
It is the weekend and we are feeling alright
