A wish for all to blossom and to change
There's a mystical, ancient, and forgotten way la cho ku, I'm not as sweet as I've led you la cho ku, with spiders beside her

I heard you speak of ancient cherry blossom
And I ask you to take me there A wish for all

la cho ku, I'm not as sweet as I've lead you
la cho ku, with spiders beside her

Tradition meets with ocean eyes,
And sea monsters are in the tide
A spider beside her

la cho ku, I'm not as sweet as I've lead you

la cho ku
(The sunrise is slowly calling you)

la cho ku
(Eight arms and legs to hold onto)

la cho ku
(Her ways, combining old and new)

With spiders beside her
A spider beside her
