Alone in their destination
Wandering thru this violent life
A part of all misconception from their past
And now thrown out to the street to rot
Painful screams never heard
Hung on the wings of death
Germs are what they seem
For the rich they have no need
Left in the cold in crucial places
Feeling the horrors of real life
Places to places, no where to go
Agonizing pain and no one seems to care
Trying to revive 'em for a higher place
But no one seems to give any support
They hear their torment call
Disarmed from an endless war
Aimed by all kinds of poverty
Vagabonds you will find in types of societies
Resting in the underground of this materialistic
Inferno
CHORUS

Mortify

In hostility of human injustice

Some say that they're not concerned

But never willing to take their burdens

Let's hope it's not your skin

Which is rotting of sins

CHORUS

Mortify

In hostility of human injustice

They are living in a world of darkness

In which the light seems far away

No justice

Blamed for someone else's deed

Humiliation

Because they are poor

Treated harshly

Is this what they call the advancement of mankind

Why men want to rule the space

While they can't even solve the problems of the earth

Where is our humane sense now

So much said, but so little done

Blinded and devoured by our greed

Facing all the worries of our minds

We can't feel what is happening in the world around us turbulence is the conflict which we all must face

Crossing the line of stupidity and discrimination

Is one of the reasons which makes us ignore

The actual state of the moribund

Breaking down their hope to piece

Destitution increases in front of their own miserable lives

CHORUS

Mortify

In hostility of human injustice

Days passed

Injured ones dying fast

Harsh temperatures

The whips of cold winds

Are frosting their bodies on the attack

Feeling the rigor mortis stage alive

Reaching to the ultimate muscular paralysis
