"All I Can Remember"

Summer days and summer breezes, flowers
everywhere
Are all that I remember of times we used to share.
Summer nights and summer beaches, flowing into fall;
That's all I can remember, all that I recall.
I remember seasons when you weren't so far away;
I still can hear your laughter and things you used to say,
Sheltered from the world behind the ivy-covered wall;
That's all I can remember, all that I recall.

Somewhere above me,
Your smiling face, warm embrace fill my mind.
I know you love me,
And you're the one for whom the sun will always shine.

So, my love, the more I think the more I want to say,
Your love to me is sunshine and laughing summer days.
Once again I realize I loved you most of all;
That's all I can remember, all that I recall.
