Take me to the Emerald City;
Down yellow brick roads fast I run.
Scarecrow friends will dance beside me;
Tin toy brothers bright as sun.
Take me to the Emerald City;
Wizards will give us lemonade.
It's a land of pleasures pretty;
Ruby roses never fade.

Children gather fragile flowers;
Stars will sing a lullaby.
You're an angel; fly forever,
Living life behind the sky.

Take me to the Emerald City;
Wizards will give us lemonade.
It's a land of pleasures pretty;
Ruby roses never fade.

Rain, it falls like tinsel teardrops;
Rivers flow through jungles tall.
Witches watch through magic mirrors;
Frost and fog covers crystal balls.

Take me to the Emerald City;
Wizards will give us lemonade.
It's a land of pleasures pretty;
Ruby roses never fade.

It's a land of pleasures pretty;
Ruby roses never fade.
