I am the enemy
It's time to finish what we have started
You can't escape
You can't escape

It's raining bricks all over this glass metropolis, (I'll burn it down)
And I'll watch it all come crashing down and pretend
that it won't make a sound.
I could've saved them all, but I'd rather watch every tower fall. (I want to be)
Is something wrong with my state of mind?
Why don't I wanna' stop what's happening before my eyes?

It's all or nothing
I can't remember when we stood for something Something real

Are we so fragile that we hide behind the walls built in our minds?
I think it might be time to tear them down and let this monster out.
It's in your minds, what side our you on?

Stop, stop right there, stop right there.
It's only desperation
You'll cave
Stand down, your betrayal is the only truth
You can't escape, you can't escape...

It's raining bricks all over this glass metropolis,
And I'll watch it all come crashing down and pretend
that it won't make a sound.
I could've saved them all, but I'd rather watch every tower fall.
Is something wrong with my state of mind?
Why don't I wanna' stop what's happening before my
eyes?
We all know the good in me is fading,
But whatever is left is begging you to believe that I'm

everything that you want, I'm not the one you need.
But whatever is left is begging you to believe that I'm
everything that you want, I'm not the one you need.

Why, why do you run for a reason?
Why do you run for a reason?
Why do you run for a reason?
