Well I come from a long line

Of tree falling men

And this company town was here

Before my grandpappy settled in

We kept enough trees a-standin'

So our kids could tow the line

NBut now a big corporation came and bought us out

Got us working overtime

CHORUS

But tell me

Where are we gonna work

When the trees are gone

Will the big boss have us wash his car

Or maybe mow his lawn

I'm a man, I'm a man, I'm a lumberjack man

But I hear it ain't for long

Where are we gonna work

When the trees are gone?

Now these corporate mergers

Make no sense to me

But they got this junk bond debt to pay

So we're clear-cutting all the trees

Now that old fishin' hole

Where I used to take my son

We trashed it out last Monday morn

Oh Lord, what have we done

CHORUS

Now these Wall Street money men

They got me MAD

I've got a family to feed and falling trees

Is the only job I ever had

Say now folks, we just can't stay here

While this slash and burn goes on

We've got to slow down this big corporation

Before all the trees are gone
