It may be easier
When you're not around not to cry
It may be easier but I don't mind

It may have been foolish
To hold my wrists while you walked away
But there was nothing more that I could say

So you came inside and stayed

And she spins around
And I'm falling down
From the fire escape

You looked so lovely

The smell of pheromones
Like burning wood in fiery hearths
And silver candelabras dripping slow

This deviated dizziness
My head is cold and feverish
As she lays her countenance against my skin

But I wouldn't mind a kiss again

And she'll come around
And I'm falling down
From the balcony, yeah

She blows a candle out and sleeps

Please let me go where the wind blows soft against this broken heart
And broken saints and salty lips
From broken dreams

And be in those arms again
And scream as she pulls you in
The flame will burn your skin
You rise in ash as you float like a feather

And you spin around
And I'm falling down
The fire escape

She blows the candle out and sleeps
