What's more to do when you think there's nothing left?
Well there's more to life than just great sex
Take a step outside and I'm sure that you'll find
That there's plenty of good people right by your side

Somebody's watching over you
Making sure that you get through

I just want to say that I pray for you every night and day
That you're happy with the roles that you play
Life's such a malleable thing
Nothing ever stays the same
We change we get confused
I just hope that I do right by you

Make your way on out and make sure you look around
See what have to give that you can't find in this town
Take the time you need, discover what you please
Whether it's by hopping trains, or traveling by feet

Somebody's watching over you
Make sure that you get through

I just want to say that I pray for you every night and day
That you're happy with the roles that you play
Life's such a malleable thing
Nothing ever stays the same
We change we get confused
I just hope that I do right by you

Snap a before and after photo
And many times between
While you're off to venture solo
You can look back and say, "That was me!"
