Won't you come inside and tell me how you feel
God give me a sign and show me this is real
Please answer my prayers tonight and I'll be fine
But if not I'll just go on with life

Wont you let me inside I'll show you how I feel
God gave me a sign and told me this was real
He answered my prayers that night and now I'm fine
I'm lucky enough to have you by my side

We'll need to get far away

So I'll build a house upon the clouds
For us to look down
And be proud we have each other
We don't have all day to fool around
So why not enjoy it now
Cause we don't have forever
I think you should stay, and keep me company

Won't you hush your lips and just keep them sealed
Cause time could mend a broken heart and let it heal
My mouth speaks words that I can never speak of I'll say that I'm pushing my luck

No one ever said that I
Would ever have the chance to find
A home, a heart made of pure gold
Or just some time to spend my life
Break down and cry or wonder why
Souls aren't meant to be left alone
