FEAT. TOM BARMAN & THE SUBS

I've gone up and down
From truth to doubt
And now that you're far gone
I catch the bow
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The way you're so unclear
Without a love to steer

Every chance I take takes more and more
Things get lost or break without a move
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The way you're so unclear
Without a love to steer

I've gone up and down
From truth to doubt
And now that you're far gone
I catch the bow
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The way you're so unclear
Without a love to steer

Every place I go I know you will
Follow me and so I'll wait until
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The way you're so unclear
Without a love to steer

I've gone up and down
From truth to doubt
And now that you're far gone
I catch the bow
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The way you're so unclear

Without a love to steer

Every chance I take takes more and more
Things get lost or break without a move
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The way you're so unclear
Without a love to steer

Every place I go I know you will
Follow me and so I'll wait until
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
The ship is lost and found
Because I know you lied
Because I know you laid
