On a wing and a prayer she went to
Steal away, steal away her love
On the wings of despair
For the one she felt would always be
Like the wind that blows from the heart of hearts
High on the sea of love
How could a child know it falls apart
Like the precious star above

But she's got -
One heart, one heart
One heart, one heart

Now she stands and she stares just to Dream away, the way she once was
Such a child of despair
To think she was the only one
To breathe the fire from the heart of hearts
High on the sea of love
How could a child know it falls apart
Like the precious star above

But she's got -
One heart, one heart
One heart, one heart
