

Paper Tongues

"Everybody"

Visit "Everybody" on MotoLyrics.com

Brenda get off the tracks, you shouldn't choose to go die like that
You got that evil in your mind
But take a breath and breathe this time
Sister go and take a chill, before your mind leads you to kill
I know that accidents aren't real
But drink some peace and learn to heal

People always act unreal, people always act unreal
People always act like they can't feel,
But if you hold their hand just before they break you
can crush their kill

People always act unreal, people always act unreal
People always act like they can't feel,
But if you hold their hand just before they break you
can crush their kill

Tawny get off the floor, 'cause you don't live there anymore
You got your habits from your dad, but you got it better than what he had
Lisa, I know you hurt, but get your face up out the dirt What if the baby's what you need, come inside and wash away your grief
Father, get off the couch, your family starves and goes about
But if your son can hardly cope you could embrace and give him hope
Mother get out that home, your kids are living outside alone
How about you wrap them in your cloth and let them know that love's not lost

People always act unreal, people always act unreal
People always act like they can't feel,
But if you hold their hand just before they break you
can crush their kill

People always act unreal, people always act unreal

People always act like they can't feel,
But if you hold their hand just before they break you
can crush their kill

Well you know me, I know you
We're just like everybody
Yes, we do bend, we do break
We fall apart sometimes
And we're not perfect, we're not right
We're made from every color,
Can you relate? Life is safe.
We're gonna need each other

Well you know me, I know you
We're just like everybody
Yes, we do bend, we do break
We fall apart sometimes
And we're not perfect, we're not right
We're made from every color,
Can you relate? Life is safe.
We're gonna need each other

Well you know me, I know you
We're just like everybody
Yes, we do bend, we do break
We fall apart sometimes
And we're not perfect, we're not right
We're made from every color,
Can you relate? Life is safe.
We're gonna need each other

People always act unreal, people always act unreal
People always act like they can't feel,
But if you hold their hand just before they break you
can crush their kill

People always act unreal, people always act unreal
People always act like they can't feel,
But if you hold their hand just before they break you
can crush their kill

Visit Paper Tongues page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.