I gave my world to you
It was yours to have
You gave your world to me
Do you remember that?

I let you off the hook
Yeah, I let you slip
My trust went out the door
Long before I did

All this sneaking round my back
All this peeking round your shoulder
Is all over

Should've known that you'd be trouble
Should've looked the other way
Should've never had to struggle
Look the other way
Should've listened to my mother
Look the other way-ay, the other way-ay
The other way-ay, the other way-ay

Bridges burn, tables turn
Petals hit the floor
You might win some
But you lost one
When it rains it pours

All this sneaking round my back
All this peeking round your shoulder
Is all over

Should've known that you'd be trouble
Should've looked the other way
Should've never had to struggle
Look the other way
Should've listened to my mother
Look the other way-ay, the other way-ay
The other way-ay, the other way-ay

(Way, way, way, way)

The other (the other) way
(Way, way, way)

I gave my world to you
It was yours to have
You gave your world to me
Do you remember that?

I remember that
(Remember that)
Why'd you take it back?
(Take it back)
Why'd you have to go
Throw it all away

Should've known that you'd be trouble
Should've looked the other way
Should've never had to struggle
Look the other way
Should've listened to my mother
Look the other way-ay, the other way-ay
The other way-ay, the other way-ay

Look the other way-ay
(Way-ay), way-ay, (way)
Way-ay, (way-ay)
Look the other way
