Amos Moses was a Cajun. He lived by himself in the swamp Hunting alligator for a living. Knock 'em on the head with a stump
The Louisiana law's gonna get you, Amos
It ain't legal hunting alligator down in the swamp, boy Now everybody blamed his old man for raising him mean as a snake
When Amos Moses was a boy, his Daddy would use him as alligator bait
Tie a rope around his waist, throw him in the swamp Alligator bait on the Louisiana bayou
Chorus:
Just about 45 minutes southeast of Thibodaux, Louisiana
There lived a man called Doc Milsap and his pretty wife Hannah
They raised up a son that could eat up his weight in groceries
Named him after a man of the cloth. They called him
Amos Moses
Now folks in South Louisiana said Amos was a helluva man
He could trap the biggest, meanest alligator. He only had to use one hand That's all he got left 'cause the alligator bit him. Ha ha!
Left arm gone clean up to the elbow
Chorus
Here comes Amos
And you should have seen his pretty wife, Hannah Well, the Sheriff got wind that Amos was in the swamp hunting alligator skin
So he hid in the swamp, "I'm gonna get you boy."
He never did come out again.
Well, I wonder where the Louisiana Sheriff went to?
Sure can get lost in the Louisiana bayou
Well, I wonder where the Louisiana Sheriff went to?
Sure can get lost in the Louisiana bayou
Well, I wonder where the Louisiana Sheriff went to?
Sure can get lost in the Louisiana bayou
