the wind picks up
and the birds surround us you cover up you settle down drink from the well, drink from the fountain

it feels like a Sunday the morning took over
there's no one
there's nothing colliding together
you're moving me some way
and you are the theme of the day your words go deeper and I thank you
and I thank you

we'll be back tomorrow in a place where there are no limits we don't draw the line for anyone
drink from the well, drink from the fountain no, it feels like Sunday the morning took over
there's no one,
you are the theme of the day your, your words go deeper
and I thank you
and I walk away

and the wind picks up
and over and left me with no clue there's no one, no one there's nothing
colliding together

there's no one,
no one nothing
colliding together
and you are the theme for the day
