"True Love Always"

He asked to hold her hand
Sees her looking at another man
Striking blow to her head
Finishes it off with a backhand
He tells her he's sorry,
true love always
He tells her that it won't ever happen again
And that he doesn't want her to ever leave him
So let this rose make up for that broken nose
And a kiss to seal all the wounds that need to heal
And I'll try not to make you cry
She's reassured, she wipes the tears from her black eyes
This woman that he loves so much
This woman that he loves to touch
