You try to run just as fast as you can
But hurry, their getting close
You run out of breath from you fighting their hands
They're tearing at your clothes

You try to look for a place you can hide
There's no room left in your mind
You see a friend who's just standing in line
To help you get out in time

Waiting, watching over you, just leave all your things
I'll take you away from the things that you knew before Beautiful boy, carry the weight of the world, beautiful girl

We'll turn your nightmares back into dreams
First you've got to close your eyes
Then you'll get another chance to redeem
They'll recognize your disguise

We'll have to back to that moment in time
When you couldn't see the light
The night, it took over your body and mind
Without an end in sight

Waiting, watching over you, just leave all your things
I'll take you away from the things that you knew before
Beautiful boy, carry the weight of the world
Beautiful girl, nothing's the same as before, beautiful
boy

Oh, oh, yeah, yeah, oh, oh, yeah, yeah

You're tired of running so you turn to fight
It's you up against yourself
Now, you can see in your eyes there's a light
A love that you've never felt

Take you away from the things that you knew before
Beautiful boy, carry the weight of the world
Beautiful girl, nothing's the same as before, beautiful
boy
