It shouldn't come as any surprise
Another sunset, another sunrise
How many days now?
You know I've lost count of them

Another lesson I thought that I'd learned
To hide in shadows just waiting your turn
An unguided moment
And now I'm back again

I'm back down to where I've always been
I never thought I'd wind up here again
Again

Back with a vengeance
The word hits the streets
Same old faces come back to see
Is it really true what they say?
Are you really back again?

All my dreams, they fade into black
Take one step forward, take 12 long steps back
I fool myself for a while
But now I'm back again

I'm back down to where I've always been
I should have known I'd wind up here again
Again

I'm back down to where I've always been
I f*cked up and now I'm back again
Again

Again
Again
