What does it do
When it's used and thrown away
When it doesn't understand
Love's not a game you play

How does it cope
When it doesn't feel its' worth
When there's no one who understands
At least not here on Earth

Where does the lonely heart go
When the laughter turns to sorrow
When it doesn't care to look outside
Or forward to tomorrow

What does it do
When there's nothing left inside
Will it ever feel again
Or should it run and hide

I'll tell you where it goes
If you promise to believe
That every broken heart
Becomes a pair, just wait and see

Where does the lonely heart go
When it breaks and needs to heal
When it hurts so much
You wish you couldn't feel

Where does the lonely heart go
When the laughter turns to sorrow
When it doesn't care to look outside
Or forward to tomorrow

Where does the lonely heart go
When it breaks and needs to heal
When it hurts so much
You wish you couldn't feel

Where does the lonely heart go

When the laughter turns to sorrow
When it doesn't care to look outside
Or forward to tomorrow
