Rest on my shoulder
And fill me win when you feel I'm away from my mind
Distance is helping me over
The fact that you're gone
With the truth that you're here all the time
I've got the comfort of knowing
When I'm on the down you are a lifter
I hear the voices you're throwing
A low but loud wind of advice
The life you led is more than enough to
Miss like hell

Slow go the broken days
Held too hard by the reckless abandon of life
Changing in permanent ways
I close my eyes just to look for a moment that might
Let me believe it's the land of an end over dream
And I'm gonna wake up
When things are as bad as they seem
I'm alright and yours by design
The life you led is more than enough to
Miss like hell
