With every drop of Blood that fell that day,
A billion tears of pain were washed away,
Ten thousand times ten thousand wars were won.
There was nothing left to pay.
Like the rain that washes earth and air,
Like a fountain flowing pure and clear,
Cleansing hearts and souls, and minds of men,
And tearing down the walls of fear.

Jesus paid it all,
Jesus paid it all.
With every stripe a final sacrifice,
Jesus paid it all.

One Man hung suspended in the space.
A power struggle for the human race.
It bridged the gap between mankind and God.
And dying with Amazing Grace.

With every drop of Blood that fell that day,
Ten thousand tears were washed away.
Ten thousand times ten thousand wars were won,
Till there was nothing left to pay.

Like the rain that washes earth and air,
Like a fountain flowing pure and clear,
Cleansing hearts and souls, and minds of men,
And tearing down the walls of fear.

Jesus paid it all, Jesus paid it all.
With every stripe a final sacrifice.
Oh, Jesus paid it all.

Jesus, Oh, Jesus,
Jesus paid it all.
