I got up and I drove to work on the wrong side of the road and what the hell would I do ?
I must admit I didn't know and Andrew came along y'all to add a couple of lines or so I got one I finished yesterday and I got three-point-six to go

one down and three-point-six tomorrow
and I'm out of here
one down and three-point-six tomorrow
and I'm out of here

people tell me "Ben, just make up junk and turn it in", but I never was alright with turnin' in a bunch of shit don't like wasting time on music that won't make me proud, but now I've found a reason to sit right down and shit some out

and I'm out of here
and I'm out of here

yeah, yeah

I love you more than any man has loved before I love you more than all the stars up in the sky I think that we should settle down and live happily forever after...

what do you think of that?

I'm really not complaining I realize it's just a job and I hate hearing bellyaching rockstars whine and sob 'cause I could be bussin' tables I could well be pumping gas yeah, but I get paid much finer for playing piano and kissing ass and it's one-point-six yesterday and three-point-six last

and I'm out of here
one down and three-point-six tomorrow
and I'm out of here

one down and three-point-six
and I'm out of here
