Dematerializing, the dose that you take
To just forget your own name
Fizzles out your worth
Believing that you just should not exist

Look in from the outside
Maybe you'll see
You were worth it to me
(Worth it to me)

Don't just stay here
Lying awake in the fade
When everything could be better
Your life is defined by the choices you make
The viewpoints you take

Demolecularizing, the poison you take
Extracted from your tears
Never flying, Always dying
Letting them clip your wings with your fears

Look in from the outside
Maybe you'll see
You were worth it to me
(Worth it to me)

Don't just stay here
Lying awake in the fade
When everything could be better
Your life is defined by the choices you make
The viewpoints you take

The place where they want you
You're too damn important to me
The place where they want you
You're too damn important to me

Don't just stay here
Lying awake in the fade
When everything could be better

Your life is defined by the choices you make
The viewpoints you take
