[CHORUS by Carolina Webb]

Well I sit back and take a look this life and all I see is this road so long and all all I know is that I have you by my side for this ride I swear that I could never do it alone you keep me going
You are the beat to my heart That burning light when it's dark That ground at my feet when it seems that my heads in the clouds and it carries me so far You are that blood through my veins that shelter when it just rains that little bit of love there no matter what never fail to wash away this pain

[V1]

These days my spirits stagger down low no motivation head under this pillow life under here is slow as that world goes I just need to dream a minute let me reload. cuz life I tell you it can move too fast blazes by light speed happens in a flash before you know it you've grown up, going, with the flow of life like a robot, broken you just let the world mold you into what you do are you really livin life, or is it livin you? cuz i promise yo if you don't see beyond this life the end will be lonely like no one in sight. so as I lay here I make sure I see clear what Im livin for is love real sincere and easily the deepest love that's been given to me nothing can compare greatful i'll forever be. mom you are the reason that I am who I am what you've done for me, I don't think you understand you keep me grounded, my vision lost you found it now imma be the man better than you ever planned always here for me thinkin, missin, love you mom this forever nothing in this world can break our bond and what we have together, I will carry on so my son will feel the same down this road so long.

[HOOK]

[V2]

My little man, little love, little light of mine life is dark baby, but you always bring that shine cuz from the time that I first saw that little face my whole world stopped, and was put in place I never knew that I could feel the way that I do now a love so real? na homie get outta town cuz before it was hookin up with my girl at night but when you hold that little you and feel that heart beatin right that's when you feel that real love come rushin in cuz you made that, that's your blood up in him describe this feelin? i dont think i could begin all i know is that's my boy and and that's til the end so imma be the best dad that he could ask for his best friend, role model, and his mentor he'll grow to know that this world it can get really cold but with me by his side anything is possible. yeah, and little does he know yet but his little self has got me feelin so blessed I've never been full of so much motivation if life's a game, catch me increasing this pace I'm racin until I win it, until my whole family's happy I will climb mountains, I will cross valleys but most important even when my legs no longer run I will always make it so my love is number 1.
