Her eyes, blue as the sky with lashed big enough for them to hide behind when the shyness arrives and her ears, a little bit different in their size but it's alright cuz she still looks cute but she still hides em behind her hair and her nose, freckled and little, she rubs it too much so there's a line across its middle down to her lips, there aren't words that can describe that kiss
now let me say, that it's this face, the most gorgeous face that God could create I swear it's true, and I swear that you could get lost inside your head if you are to just gander at this face too it is something out a fantasy, it is so real, but you would think it's make believe the way it shines, the expressions in those lines so defined, so refined, it will take over your mind and never let go it is never to be understood know what goes on inside her brain? man i wish i could man i wish i knew, so i'll switch to her view and see just why she walks the way she does inside those shoes.

My eyes, with my eyes I see and with my ears I hear everything that I could be and that I could have, but that I can't grab cuz I'm stuck in this room in this darkness so black held back, can't get up, can't really get livin all these images of college kids and their tuitions and the things they're gettin, and all the things I'm missin get so sad depressed that my vision starts trippin, my ears start listenin, hearing things, hearing things, got my mind deranged overcome with these feelings strange like I'm trapped in a cage this house, like a lonely cave, I just need something to make me feel okay yeah, and my love is so far away, I've lost sight of why I'm even here to stay cuz for some reason love to me don't feel the same and now my love is gone, but I barely feel this pain so I go out so late that I can't even think straight anything to get me away from this think tank sip a littel drank, fit in with these college kids fillin up the holes inside me with empty distractions

Wait. Wait just hold on, before you start to make conclusions that are totally wrong,
hear my song
listen to my words, watch my actions and maybe try comparing them to yours is this what i deserve? to be harassed as a person? told by my boo straight up I don't deserve them why for what I've done? day in day out taking care of our son as best as i can, church every weekend, work every evenin tell me how was your day, did you have fun?
while i was sleeping, now it's my turn to go out and do some of that drinkin once or twice a week and I'll escape some of these stresses I ain't doin nothin wrong I'm allowed to live my adolescence it aint nothing that you aint doing too gettin out this house, lettin loose, that is all that imma do.
and that's exactly what she did as she got so caught up in the way she should live insecurities filled while risking the safety of her kid some attention gained, but loss of a relationship. that love that she was seeking, it was there the whole time but those ears couldn't hear and those eyes just went blind
she was so numb and didn't think she needed help, when all she really needed was to just love herself,
