"Morning Light"

We live for, we yearn for
The things that we're born for Yesterday's today's tomorrow

We die for, we try for
The things that we long for
If needed beg, steal, and we'll borrow

If the morning light will feed you
And no weapon will defeat you

Winter comes, skies to grey
It's the same old same old everyday
And where it starts is where it ends
I feel your pain
S run the lights, catch a plane
I know you just wanna win you'll see my friend
Life is just a game

The meaning, the reason
The set backs, the seasons
Come and go, neglect the sorrow

The shadows, the angels
That walk through this strange world
Knowing which one I will follow

If the morning light will feed you
And no weapon will defeat you

Winter comes, skies to grey
It's the same old same old everyday
And where it starts is where it ends
I feel your pain
S run the lights, catch a plane
I know you just wanna win you'll see my friend
Life is just a game

Oh let me live it now
Oh let me feel it now
Oh let me break it down

I know I see that this ain't the end for me

Oh try to stop me now

Oh I will hit the ground

Oh I will turn around

I do believe that this world ain't done with me

Winter comes, skies to grey

It's the same old same old everyday

And where it starts is where it ends

I feel your pain

S run the lights, catch a plane

I know you just wanna win you'll see my friend

Life is just a game
